

Curriculum

- Tell us about an activity that you planned and executed with a group of children that was successful. What were your goals for the activity? How did you measure the success of your activity? What did the children learn?
- We believe we are constantly learning in our work here. Tell us how you can be supported in your own learning journey.
- Tell us what you know about reflective writing (documentations) and how it helps with this type of curriculum work.
- We value Professional Development and professional growth, name a time that Pro-D really helped to shape your career?
- Professionally, what skills would you like to further develop? What skills would you like to learn?
- We do a lot of mentoring here. Was there anyone in particular who has influenced your work with young children? How did they influence you and what did you learn from them?

Teamwork

- A co-worker and you do not see eye to eye on the way he/she is dealing with a child's behavioural issue. What is the course of action you would take to deal with this?
- Supporting our educators is something we strive to do. If hired, in what ways could the SRCC support you?
- Describe a time in which you enhanced team building in the workplace. What did you do and how did it work out for you?
- If hired for a position at the SRCC, what three things would you do on the first day of your job?

Working with Families

- Communication with parents is very important. A child in your class has bit another child today. How can we communicate this incident to the families?
- A child has been in your program since the age of 5 months but suddenly at the age of 9 months, this child is having difficulty when her parents drop her off. What might be happening and what steps can you take to support both the child and her parents?
- A parent comes and goes every day but rarely says more than hello. How could you reach out to this parent?

Disposition

- What part of being an early childhood educator gives you the most satisfaction? What do you find challenging?
- Think about your placements or your last job. What did you learn about yourself from that experience?
- What motivates and inspires you in your work with children?
- If you didn't have to work, and money was not a concern, what would you do for the next six months?
- When working with families what personality trait that you have, do you believe is the most important?
- We all bring all of ourselves to this work. What values do you personally have about the work you do?
